THE NEWS.

The telegraph has been burdened to-day with the closing labors of the Baltimore Convention, and as a consequence the war news is not so full as usual. Every good Union man will find the resolutions which we publish this evening to be full of the marrow and fatness of the true gospel of Liberty. The convention in this respect performed its duties in a most signally faithful and patriotic manner.

(The platform is long enough and wide enough and sound enough to hold every honest and loyal man in the nation, with the women and children added. The resolutions are decidedly radical, and at the same time, practical and straightforward, especially the one which hits Mr. Montgomery Blair squarely between the eyes.)

A dispatch from Gen. Sherman dated Thursday, states that he has possession of Altoona Pass, which he considers of considerable importance to him. The enemy is reported to be falling back. All is going well.

Gen. Hunter has achieved a victory over the rebels 12 miles from Stanton, and our forces are said to occupy that place. The rebel General W. E. Jones was killed.

John Morgan is again giving the Kentuckians a test of his quality. Perhaps it is as good medicine for that state as any.

We have nothing very late from Grant or very reliable. Lee is determined to prevent him from crossing the Chickahominy if possible. The Chickahominy river and swamp, an immense army collected from all points of the South, and the entrenchments about Richmond are some of the obstacles that now lie in Grant's pathway. They seem formidable enough to discourage any other man but him.

Vice President

The nomination of Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, for Vice President of the United States, is one that will be hailed with joy by every patriotic man in the country. Like Abraham Lincoln, Governor Johnson is emphatically a man of the people, and has no feelings but those of the most robust hatred toward the slave-holding aristocrats who seek to destroy the most beneficent government ever founded by human hands.

"Springing from the humblest walks in life, he has, by his own undaunted genius and force of character, won his way to the front rank among the eminent statesmen of his time. Having been Governor of Tennessee, and for a long time a United States Senator from that state, he possesses all the requisite qualifications for the distinguished honor the nation will confer upon him in November. With such an admirable ticket as the Baltimore Convention has given us, and with a platform where every plank is as sound as oak, the loyal people who are resolved to save the Government, will march on, triumphantly to victory, keeping step to the music of the Union.

STATE NEWS.

The Beaver Dam Lights states that a fatal accident occurred to Mr. Daniels of Burton, on Saturday last, by the falling of the bridge at the foot of Lake street, near the dam. A heavy load of wheat had just passed over, and Mr. Daniels following with a load of manure, when the bridge gave way, and the team and driver were submerged in the deep water below. Mr. Daniels and both horses were drowned.

The Wisconsin says a woman named O'Neil was killed by the cars running over her near A. Smith's elevator, on the Prairie du Chien road. She was picking up wheat on the track. The cars passed over her, cutting off one arm and her leg, and fracturing her skull. She died shortly after.

The Fond du Lac Reporter says a Wisconsin boy stepped into Brunton's the other day, who is a really remarkable specimen of the genus homo. He stands six feet two inches high in his stockings, weighs 225 pounds, is only 20 years old, and a native of this state. He resides in Eden in this County. His name is Theodore Belmont.

The number of deaths in New York city average 500 per week. The city is very dirty.

The Times average $15 a head to every man, woman and child, in New York. Fifty years ago the taxes only cost each individual fifty cents per annum.

Strawberries are becoming quite plenty in New York, and are sold at from seven to eight cents per basket, or tumbler full.

Congress is just now working very hard and efficiently. The financial measures are being rapidly perfected, and in a form to be effective. If members know how deplorable the people are to bear whatever burdens are needed to preserve the credit of the country, they would not hesitate to do anything deemed necessary by those who have the responsibility of making provision for the "sinews of war."

Three match manufacturers in Boston, owned by one man, consume twenty cords of wood and five hundred pounds of brimstone per day. By the new tax of one cent per box, he will have to pay the Government $1,400 a year in taxes.

One item of the duties at New York last week has $16,780 for foreign toys. Cannot America make her own rattles?

Three brothers in the 17th Vermont regiment were killed during the recent battles on James river.

Mush and milk festivals are becoming very fashionable in many portions of Iowa.

Baring Exploit of Six Wisconsin Cavalrymen.

The subjoined general order from the commander of the 1st Brigade, District of South Kansas, records one of the most daring exploits of the war, of which six of the 3d Wisconsin cavalry boys were the heroes.

1st BRIGADE, DIST. SOUTH KANSAS, Fort Scott, Kansas, May 17th, 1864.

The Colonel Commanding desires to call attention to the good conduct of:

Serg't O. H. Carpenter, Co. C, 3d Wis. Cav.

Private Geo. Pond, " "

" C. B. Ayers, " "

" H. M. Everson, " "

" A. Rockwell, " "

These brave men, alone and unsupported, about three o'clock on the 16th inst., charged on a body of fifty guerrillas, firing their pistols as rapidly as they could, until within a few paces of the enemy, throwing him into such tumult and confusion that his prisoners previously taken—eight in number—were enabled to make their escape. This gallant act undoubtedly saved the lives of those prisoners, as all which the same party have hitherto taken have been murdered in cold blood.

This is one of those rare instances in which rashness becomes discretion, and headlong valor is transmuted into the extreme prudence. The Colonel Commanding feels called upon, therefore, thus publicly to express his thanks, and those of his brigade, to these brave men for their heroic conduct.

2d. This order will be read to each company or battalion in the brigade, on the Sunday following its receipt, at company or battalion inspection.

By order of Col. C. W. Blair.

FROM ALBANY.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 8.—Albert W. Patrie has received a verdict of $9,000 at the Green County Circuit against Marshal Murray and Wm. Puckly, his deputy.

Patrie was arrested in August, 1862, for alleged disloyal words, without process, and carried to New York, where he was confined in a cell with other prisoners for several days.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Major General Dix: A dispatch from Grant, dated yesterday 3 p. m., reports all has been very quiet to-day. No casualties are reported.

A dispatch from Gen. Sherman, dated at Ackworth yesterday 6 p. m., says: I have been to Altoona Pass and find it very admirable for our purposes. It is the gate through the east or most easterly spur of the Alleghenies. It now becomes as useful to us as it was to the enemy, being easily defended from either direction.

The road hence from Ackworth into Georgia are large and good, and the country more open. Details of the position of our troops and contemplated movements are given, but are not needed for public information. The dispatch further states that the enemy is not in our immediate front, but his signals are seen at Lost Mountain and Kershaw.

Dispatches from Gen. Canby, dated June 3d, have been received, which report satisfactory progress in the organization of his command.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

WAR DEPT., Washington, June 8th, 1:45 P. M.—Maj. Gen. Dix: A dispatch from Mr. Dana at Grant's headquarters, dated last night at 8:30 p. m., announces a victory by Gen. Hunter over the rebels beyond Stanton, and that the rebel Gen. Jones was killed on the battle field. The dispatch is as follows:

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

THE NEWS.

The telegraph has been burdened to-day with the closing labors of the Baltimore Convention, and as a consequence the war news is not so full as usual. Every good Union man will find the resolutions which we publish this evening to be full of the marrow and fitness of the true gospel of Liberty. The convention in this respect performed its duties in a most signally faithful and patriotic manner.

The platform is long enough and wide enough and sound enough to hold every honest and loyal man in the nation, with the women and children added. The resolutions are decidedly radical, and at the same time practical and straightforward, especially the one which bids Mr. Montgomery Blair squarely between the eyes. A dispatch from Gen. Sherman dated Thursday, states that he has possession of Altoona Pass, which he considers of considerable importance to him. The enemy is reported to be falling back. All is going well.

Vice President

The nomination of Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, for Vice President of the United States, is one that will be hailed with joy by every patriotic man in the country. Like Abraham Lincoln, Governor Johnson is emphatically a man of the people, and has no feelings but those of the most robust hatred toward the slave-holding aristocrats who seek to destroy the most beneficent government ever founded by human hands. Springing from the humblest walks in life, he has, by his own untold genius and force of character, won his way to the front rank among the eminent statesmen of his time. Having been Governor of Tennessee, and for a long time a United States Senator from that state, he possesses all the requisite qualifications for the distinguished honor the nation will confer upon him in November. With such an admirable ticket as the Baltimore Convention has given us, and with a platform whose every plank is as sound as oak, the loyal people who are resolved to save the Government, will march on, triumphantly to victory, keeping step to the music of the Union.

STATE NEWS.

The Beaver Dam Argus states that a fatal accident occurred to Mr. Daniels of Beaver Dam, on Saturday last, by the falling of the bridge at the foot of Lake street. A heavy load of wheat had just passed over, and Mr. Daniels following with a load of manure, when the bridge gave way, and the team and driver were submerged in the deep water below. Mr. Daniels and both horses were drowned.

The Wisconsin was a woman named O'Neil was killed by the cars running over her near A. Smith's elevator, on the Prairie du Chien pike. She was picking up wheat on the track. The cars passed over her, crushing of one arm and leg, and "fracturing" her skull. She died shortly after. The Fond du Lac Reporter says: A Wisconsin boy stopped into Brunt's the other day, who is a really remarkable specimen of the genus homo. He stands six feet two inches high in his stockings, weighs 225 pounds, is only 20 years old, and a native of this state. He resides in Eden in this County. His name is Theodore Rehner.

The number of deaths in New York city average 500 per week. The city is very dirty.

The taxes average $15-a-head to every man, woman and child in New York. Fifty years ago the taxes only cost each individual fifty cents per annum.

Strawberries are becoming quite plenty in New York, and are sold at from seven to eight cents per basket, or tumbler full.

Congress is just now working very hard and efficiently. The financial measures are being rapidly perfected, and in a form to be effective. If members know how deplorable the people are to bear whatever burdens are needed to preserve the credit of the country, they would not hesitate to do anything deemed necessary by those who have the responsibility of making provision for the "sinews of war."

Three men in the 17th Vermont regiment were killed during the recent battles on James river.

Much and mile festivals are becoming very fashionable in many portions of Iowa.

Daring Exploit of Six Wisconsin Cavalrymen.

The subjoined general order from the commander of the 1st Brigade, District of South Kansas, records one of the most daring exploits of the war, of which six of the 3d Wisconsin cavalry boys were the heroes.

His Excellency, Brig. Gen. S. C. KANSAS, Fort Scott, Kansas, May 17th, 1864.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 37.

The Colonel Commanding desires to call attention to the good conduct of—Serg't O. H. Carpenter, Co. C, 3d Wis. Cav. Elmer Weber, Private Geo. Pond, " C. B. Ayers, " H. M. Everson, " A. Rockwell,

These brave men, alone and unsupported, about three o'clock on the 10th inst., charged on a body of fifty guerrillas, killing their pistols as rapidly as they could, until within a few paces of the enemy, throwing him into such tumult and confusion, that his prisoners previously taken—eight in number—were enabled to make their escape. This gallant act undoubtedly saved the lives of those prisoners, as all which the same party have hitherto taken have been murdered in cold blood.

This is one of those rare instances in which rashness becomes discretion, and headlong valor is transmuted into the extreme prudence. The Colonel Commanding feels called upon, therefore, thus publicly to express his thanks, and those of his brigade, to these brave men for their heroic conduct.

2d. This order will be read to each company or battalion in the brigade, on the Sunday following its receipt, at company or battalion inspection.

FROM ALBANY.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 8.—Albert W. Patria has received a verdict of $9,000 at the Green County Circuit against Marshal Murray and Wm. Buckley, his deputy. Patria was arrested in August, 1862, for alleged disloyal words, without process, and carried to New York, where he was confined in a cell with other prisoners for several days.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Major General Dix: A dispatch from Grant, dated yesterday 3 p. m., reports all has been very quiet to-day. No casualties are reported.

A dispatch from Gen. Sherman, dated at Ackworth yesterday 6 p. m., says: I have been to Altoona Pass and find it very admirable for our purposes. It is the gate through the east or most eastern spur of the Alleghenies. It now becomes as useful to us as it was to the enemy, being easily defended from either direction. The roads hence from Ackworth into Georgia are large and good, and the country more open. Details of the position of our troops and contemplated movements are given, but are not needed for public information. The dispatch further states that the enemy is not in our immediate front, but his signals are seen at Lost Mountain and Kershaw.

Dispatches from Gen. Canby, dated June 3d, have been received, which report satisfactory progress in the organization of his command.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

WAR DEPT., Washington, June 8th, 1:45 P. M.—Maj. Gen. Dix: A dispatch from Mr. Dana at Grant's headquarters, dated last night at 8:30 p. m., announces a victory by Gen. Hunter over the rebels beyond Stanton, and that the rebel Gen. Jones was killed on the battle field. The dispatch is as follows:

"The Richmond Examiner of to-day speaks of the defeat of Gen. W. E. Jones by Gen. Hunter, 12 miles beyond Stanton, Va. Gen. Jones was killed on the field. His successor retreated to Waynesboro, and now holds the mountains between Charlottesville and Stanton. The paper further states that no hospitals or stores were captured by Gen. Hunter. Another dispatch announces that our forces occupy Stanton." (Signed) E. M. STANTON.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Maj. Gen. Dix: Hunter's victory and our occupancy of Stanton is confirmed by the following dispatch just received from Gen. Butler: All quiet on my line. Richmond papers of June 7th, have intelligence of a fight at Mount Crawford, between Hunter and Jones, in which Hunter was victorious and Jones, the rebel commander killed. Stanton was afterwards occupied by our forces. The fighting was on Sunday.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Headquarters Army of the Potomac, June 7th, 5 A. M. All quiet this morning. No attack made last night.

Maj. Badlow, inspector General on Gen. Butler's staff, arrived here yesterday afternoon. He came up the Chickahominy a distance of 35 miles, and landed with an escort of 100 men. In coming across the country he occasionally saw rebel pickets who fled at his approach.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

SYRACUSE, June 8.—The steamboat express train from the east, this afternoon, met with a terrible casualty. The engine exploded four miles east of here, killing 3 persons and injuring some 25 to 30 others, several seriously. The locomotive was a complete wreck, and also 3 or 4 cars. The bodies of the engineer and fireman were buried under the engine, tender, baggage and smoking car, shapeliness masses.

Among the injured is L. W. Bugles, of Detroit, Michigan, side and back, slightly injured, brought to this city and received every possible attention.

FROM KENTUCKY.

CINCINNATI, June 8.—Morgan's forces are estimated at 2500. A portion of his command took possession of Paris this afternoon, and it is thought they have destroyed the extensive trestle work bridge at that place. Two important bridges between Paris and Cincinnati, have been burned. A part of the rebel force is moving north on the Kentucky Central R. R. There is no communication south of Boyd's Station since 3 p. m.

THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION.

BALTIMORE, June 8th, 3 P. M.—The Convention has just re-combined by acclamation Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency.

BALTIMORE, 4 P. M.—Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, was nominated for Vice President on the 1st ballot.

BALTIMORE, June 8.—After the admission of Missouri delegates the remaining proposition was offered as an amendment by Mr. Lane, that the delegates from Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, Louisiana, Arkansas and all the Territories, which the majority report proposed to admit to seats without the right to vote, should have the right to vote was put to the Convention.

Mr. Lane asked a division of the question to vote as to the States first, and then on the Territories. A second division was called for, and the House asked to vote first as to Tennessee, having the right to vote. Call for a vote by States was made, and the house voted, ayes 310 nays 113. The Convention next voted as to the admission of Arkansas and Louisiana with the right to vote. The request was announced, ayes 307 nays 107. The report of the committee on credentials was then adopted as amended. Mr. Raymond of New York, from committee on resolutions reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all their enemies, the integrity and paramount authority of the Constitution and laws of the United States, and that laying aside all differences and political opinions, we pledge ourselves as Union men, animated by a common sentiment and aiming at a common object, to do everything in our power to aid the government in quelling by force of arms, the rebellion now raging against its authority, and in bringing to the punishment due to their crimes, the rebels and traitors arrayed against it. (Prolonged applause.)

Resolved, That we approve the determination of the government of the United States not to compromise with rebels, nor to offer any terms of peace except such as may be based upon an unconditional surrender of their hostilities, and a return to their just allegiance to the constitution and laws of the United States, and that we call upon the government to maintain its position, and to prosecute the war with the utmost possible vigor to the complete suppression of the rebellion, in full reliance upon the self-sacrifice, the patriotism and the heroic valor and undying devotion of the American people to their country and its free institutions.

Resolved, That as slavery was the cause and now constitutes the strength of this rebellion, and as it must be always, and everywhere hostile to the principles of a Republican government, justice to the national safety, demands its utter and complete extinction from the soil of the Republic. [Applause] and that we approve and maintain the act and the proclamation in which the Government, in its own defense

The re-nomination of Abraham Lincoln was an event so generally desired and looked for, that its public announcement creates little of the excitement which ordinarily attaches to political nominations. Elevated to the position of Chief Magistrate of a great Nation at a time of the severest trial and emergency; at a time when a powerful rebellion had armed itself for the overthrow of the Government; at a time when new questions of political economy and constitutional construction never before agitated and calling for the highest qualities of wisdom and statesmanship were brought to view; at a time when political opponents in status not in rebellion, smarting under the disappointment of an ignominious defeat, resolved to use all their powerful party engine in bringing the new party into disrepute with the people; at a time when the enmity of his political opponents was so violent that the newly elected President was compelled to seek the scene of his future labors in disguise; it was at such a time as this that Abraham Lincoln was called upon to assume the responsibilities of Chief Magistrate of these once happy and united States. How he has discharged those duties is a matter of history, so recent and so familiar to every intelligent reader that any recapitulation here cannot be necessary. It is a sufficient answer to all his traducers and maligners of every clique and party to know that after three years trial in the most gloomy and stormy period of our history the people of these States, with a unanimity scarcely ever before known, rise up and demand his re-nomination. After the most ample opportunities for judging of his ability, sagacity and honesty of purpose, they refuse to commit their vast and varied interests to any other hands. And in this case who can deny that there is not both truth and pertinence in the motto, "Vox populi, vox dei?"

It is not to be denied that Mr. Lincoln's past course has been so seemingly tardy and "conservative" in many respects, as to alienate and drive from him some of his original and heartiest supporters, while some of his warmest friends have criticised most freely and condemned most emphatically certain acts of his administration which they deemed to be incompatible with the best interests of liberty and humanity. It was charged that he moved too slowly, that he clung to the border state policy until it had well nigh ruined us, and that his refusal to strike the death blow to the giant crime of Slavery by issuing a proclamation of emancipation at the proper time, cost the loyal states thousands of lives and indefinitely prolonged the war. But can any man tell what would have been the condition of things had Mr. Lincoln taken the advice of those who were so ready to give it, and pushed forward to certain results in defiance of all the difficulties and obstacles that stood in the way? Other men perhaps would not have been guilty of the same mistakes that Mr. Lincoln has, but they might have committed blunders infinitely worse. And it is one of the notable features of the times that many prominent men and many prominent journals that a year or two ago were disgusted with the President's tardiness, are now willing to admit, and do admit that after all, perhaps he has gone fast enough. At any rate, his re-nomination with only one State against him, must be regarded as indubitable proof that the great majority of the people are willing to approve and endorse his policy and action. In such a case and at such a time, all mere individual wishes and preferences must bow in silence and submit with the best grace they can.

The admirable resolutions which attribute the platform, and which will be found in our telegraphic columns, are a guarantee that the party has made some substantial progress in the right direction. During the last three years of terrible experience. The hearty applause with which they were received in the convention and the manner of their adoption by it, are only indicative of the still more cordial and emphatic endorsement which the people will give them throughout the loyal portions of the Union.

Letter from the 35th Regiment. The following extracts are taken from a letter dated Port Hudson, La., May 15th: "We are encamped inside the fortification at Port Hudson, enjoying life as well as can be expected considering our inexperience in a soldier's life. The health of the regiment is very good, not any deaths occurring since our departure from Milwaukee on the 18th of April last. The Regiment at present have a good amount of fatigue duty to perform on the surrounding fortifications, strengthening them so that in case of an attack they would be impregnable to an attacking party. While we are not busy on the fortifications, we are drilling and are fast becoming efficient in the school of the soldier. This morning our monotony was disturbed on account of our receiving intelligence of a skirmish that occurred last night, between the rebels and some colored troops of this command that were on duty as guards in a Stockade on the right of the fortification. The rebels made a descent, and the colored troops not being vigilant, were taken by surprise and several of them killed and taken prisoners. The Lieutenant in command being among the prisoners. The rebels burned a Sawmill that was outside of the works a short distance, and then made well their escape, with their prisoners. I have no correct information, as to the number of prisoners taken, but have been informed that it was about twenty. The exultation of the rebels over their victory gained, was of short duration, for this morning a detachment of infantry, cavalry and a Vermont battery was sent out in pursuit of the rebels, came up with them, attacked and dispersed them, retook some of our own men, killed two of the rebels and took six prisoners, a rebel Captain being among the captured. The prisoners were highly elated over their success the previous night, and made their boasts that whenever they chose to do so they could gain admittance into our camps and leave them without being detected. I do not think that there is any great force of rebels about here, only a few roving bands of guerrillas; still the Commanding General keeps making preparations for every emergency; and if the rebels should make an attack here, they will find everything in readiness for them. There is in this command some 5,000 colored soldiers, and I must admit that this class makes far better soldiers than I ever expected they would; they are obedient, always ready to do their duty, and learn to become good and efficient soldiers, with a rapidly really surprising. The mortality among this class of people seem to be greater than with the whitesoldiers, not a day has passed during our stay at this place without hearing the funeral dirge played, for at least three of these poor victims.

CHARLIE. CONFISCATION OF REBEL ESTATE. Free Homesteads for Union Soldiers. Speech of Hon. L. C. Sloan, of Wisconsin.

The House having under consideration the bill to secure to persons in the military or naval service of the United States homesteads upon confiscated or forfeited estates in insurrectionary districts, the question being on engrossment and third reading, Mr. Fernando Wood made a speech in opposition to it. Mr. Sloan, in reply said: "Mr. SPEAKER, I think it is true, as stated by the gentleman from New York, [Mr. Fernando Wood], that this bill has not received as much attention as its importance deserves. But I think it is not true, as the gentleman further stated, that the principles involved in it have not been considered as fully and deliberately as they ought to be considered before action is taken. In my view, the only principles involved in the bill now before the House have been definitely settled by the action of this body after the fullest consideration, and after the most mature deliberation. This bill, Mr. Speaker, is the legitimate result, the natural consequence, of two measures of very great importance which have passed into laws by the action of Congress, after an extended discussion of each. I mean the act not consenting the property of rebels, and the act granting free homesteads on the public domain to all who will settle upon and cultivate them. This bill is the legitimate consequence of the principles embodied in those measures. The gentleman from New York [Mr. Fernando Wood] assumed in the remarks he has made that the only way in which the bill operates is under the confiscation act. But if he had read the bill, carefully he would have seen that these lands are to be acquired, under the act for the collection of district taxes in insurrectionary districts, and under the act to provide internal revamp-up to support the Government, as well as under the confiscation act. If these acts are enforced, as we are already enforcing them, we shall acquire a large amount of landed property, the title to which will be in this Government; and this bill simply proposes that the lands thus acquired shall be treated as a part of the public domain, to be disposed of in accordance with the wise policy which Congress has already determined to apply to the disposition of our public lands, by allotting them as homesteads to those who are willing to cultivate them, with the exception that in the disposition of the lands acquired under the acts which I have named, preference is to be given to those patriotic men who have performed military and naval service for the country in this terrible struggle for national existence. The first objection which the gentleman from New York makes to the bill is that it occupies the land thus acquired as homesteads. He is not willing to extend to them this privilege. Yet he claims, as all the members on that side of the House claim, to be the special friend of our soldiers in the field. He says that the members on that side have been willing and anxious to pay the soldiers in gold, and that they have also been desirous of increasing their pay. I am right in supposing that the motive which prompted the attempt on that side of the House to have our soldiers paid in gold was, that such a measure might be the means of embarrassing the Government in carrying on this war? They understand that another currency and another standard of value have been established and are now in use in this country. If it would not be impossible to carry out the measure of paying our armies in gold, it would certainly entail great financial embarrassment, and perhaps financial ruin upon the Government to compel it to pay in gold the vast sums of money which we appropriate for the payment of our officers and soldiers. Is that the motive which animates the gentleman from New York? Is that the motive which animates the members on that side of the House? Are these the objects which they seek to accomplish in pressing the proposition as they have done, that our armies should be paid in gold? What other motives, what other object, can they possibly have? But, sir, they are not only willing to pay the soldiers in gold, but they are willing to very largely increase their pay. The proposition which comes from that side is to increase it far more than was provided in the bill which was reported on this side of the House and has become a law. The sincerity of the gentleman from New York and his political associates is shown in the fact that while they have been proposing to pay the soldiers in gold and to increase their pay so largely, they have voted against the taxation necessary to put the Government in possession of the money with which to do so. If the gentleman was in the seat and voted on the tax bill, his vote will, undoubtedly, be found recorded in the negative. By what process of reasoning can such inconsistencies be reconciled? Gentlemen on the other side rise in their places, with many professions of friendship for the support of our soldiers, strenuously advocate an increase of their wages; but when it is proposed to lay the taxation necessary to pay even the wages they are now receiving, and which is absolutely necessary to the continued existence of the Government, and sustain its efforts to crush this rebellion, many of these same gentlemen are found voting against it. And now when we come in with a measure of simple justice to our soldiers, fully within the power of the Government to grant, when they know that large amounts of lands in the States in rebellion are being acquired under the confiscation act, the act for the collection of taxes in insurrectionary districts, and under the internal revenue law, and it is proposed on this side of the House as an act of justice to give homesteads upon them to the soldiers who have periled their lives in defending the country, who have saved the Government, and by whose valor those lands have been acquired, and will be held and occupied, we find the gentleman from New York and his associates upon that side of the House opposing it. There is no doubt that they will vote against this bill, notwithstanding all their professions of regard and friendship for our soldiers. And yet, sir, it is a practical measure of the highest justice, which may be extended to them without in any degree weakening or impairing the resources of the country. [TO BE CONTINUED TO-MORROW.]
